FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 14.

THE RESULT of the election in Newark, N. J., last Tuesday, bas apparently relieved the New York democrats of a most depress ing fear. They are now hopeful of success. Their late fear resulted from the possible strength of the labor vote, but, as Newark his voting place. The Doctor says the inwas a great labor centre, and where the la-dications all point to the renomination and bor party expected a decisive victory, gave the labor ticket less than two thousand out of a vote of twenty-five thousand, and trip to the West has made him many friends, as neither he nor his wife has done elected the democratic ticket by a satisfactory vote, the fear of a labor vote in New York sufficiently large to offeet the loss the republicans will probably sustain by the prohibition vote, has been to a great degree dissipated, and it is now thought the demoeratic State ticket will be elected. If that ehall be so and Virginia shall also go democratic, the renomination of President Cleveland will be almost assured, and that, too, though nothing is better known than the fact that his renomination would evoke no enthusiasm.
